

February 18, 2026: On When Did Regime Change in Iran Become America First Again

During George W. Bush's seemingly nightmare of a presidency we all watched in horror and discomfort as his Republican led militurds 'patriotically' expanded his war against Afghanistan into Iraq and was ready to go into Iran.

'Weapons of Mass Destruction'

AI Overview

President George W. Bush did not invade Iran during his administration (2001-2009), though he labeled it part of the "axis of evil" in 2002. While focusing on Iraq, his administration considered military options, including airstrikes on nuclear sites, and ramped up diplomatic and financial pressure, rather than a full-scale invasion.  The Guardian +3

Key aspects of the Bush administration's approach to Iran included:

- "Axis of Evil" Designation: In 2002, Bush grouped Iran with Iraq and North Korea, accusing them of sponsoring terrorism and seeking weapons of mass destruction.

We all firmly opposed the Republican Party at that time, led by the hype man Rush (into War) Limbaugh and George (Double-Pit) W. 'the Decider' Bush to continuously expand American imperialism into the Middle East. WE FIRMLY THREW THEM OUT OF OFFICE IN FAVOR OF BARACK OBAMA.

And now, here we are again 1st Republican President later, the Republi-Cons campaigned on 'America First' and 'Make America Great Again' but facts prove the truth - they are still the party of war-hawks and imperialist expansion into the sovereign affairs of other people (like myself) and countries, like Iran.

White House urges Iran to strike deal as Trump renews military threat

■ MIDDLE EAST

Washington (United States) (AFP) – The White House warned Iran it would be “wise” to reach a deal with the United States, as President Donald Trump again raised the prospect of military action amid renewed, Oman-mediated talks. The remarks come as tensions remain high following recent protests and a fragile diplomatic push between Tehran and Washington. (In the ‘legal’ world, this is called ‘duress’ and would make such a deal void as ‘unconscionable’, but in the ‘KKK-Klown’ world of Donald Chump, this is the ‘Art of the Deal.’)

◆ AI Overview

Contract duress occurs when a party is forced into a contract against their will through threats, coercion, or unlawful pressure, rendering the agreement voidable. The primary types are physical duress (threats of bodily harm), economic duress (unlawful financial threats), and psychological/emotional duress (extreme manipulation or threats to reputation). GitHub Pages documentation +3

Main Types of Contract Duress

- Physical Duress: This involves actual or threatened physical violence against the person, their loved ones, or their property to force them to sign a contract. A contract signed under physical threats is generally considered void. (War ships and ‘vessels’ parading around the ‘target’)
- Economic Duress: Occurs when one party threatens to damage the other’s financial interests to force them into an agreement. Examples include threatening to breach a contract, withholding payment, or abusing a dominant economic position. (Tariffs)
- Psychological/Emotional Duress: Involves using intense mental or emotional pressure to manipulate a party, such as threats of blackmail, public humiliation, or exposing private, embarrassing information. (Starlink internet protests)
- Undue Influence: While sometimes considered separate from traditional duress, it involves using a position of power, trust, or authority to override a person’s free will, often seen in relationships with high susceptibility to (Trump-Rape) influence. Corporate Finance Institute +7

FLASHBACK TO FEBRUARY 06, 2026: ON LET’S SERIOUSLY DISCUSS THEIR BEHAVIOR

February 06, 2026: On Lets Seriously Discuss Their Behavior

I want to reiterate what I am personally experiencing.

THREATS
ABUSE
AGITATIONS

Marked by clear 'signs' that they are related to Donald Trump's quest to get everything that he wants for himself.

His public words indicate that he has no intention of stopping his evil ways:

◆ AI Overview

Throughout his political career, including his 2024 campaign and return to the White House, Donald Trump has consistently maintained that he would not alter the rhetorical style, strategies, or personal approach that led to his initial election victory in 2016.

Key Aspects of Trump's Approach

- "If it ain't broke, don't fix it": Early in his 2016 campaign, Trump argued against becoming "more presidential" in his demeanor, comparing his campaign to a winning football team that does not change its quarterback.
- "Attack, attack, attack": Observers noted that his 2024 campaign continued to rely on the same strategy of turning legal challenges into political fights, sticking to his established style.
- "All Trump, All the Time": His 2024 strategy involved unconventional media appearances, such as targeting podcasts aimed at young men, to connect directly with his base rather than relying solely on traditional media.
- Core Campaign Themes: His 2024 run blended new policies with the same "America First" grievances and populist appeal that characterized his 2016 and 2020 campaigns.
- "I am your retribution": During the 2024 campaign, Trump centered his message on acting as "retribution" for his supporters against political opponents, a message he maintained despite some tactical shifts in 2024.

Contextual Factors

- Personality and Style: Trump has often expressed that he does not see a reason to change his personality or approach, even when facing criticism.
- Reversal of Promises: While he claims not to change, some analysts pointed out that he has previously shifted positions on various subjects (NATO, China, etc.) while maintaining his overall, often "instinctual," style.
- "Day One" Dictator Comment: In 2023, he indicated he would not change his approach, saying he would not be a dictator "except for day one," specifically referring to using executive power to close the border and increase drilling.

In short, Trump has largely stuck to a "brand" of politics that prioritizes direct, aggressive communication, and he has often boasted that this approach is the reason for his success.

I am experiencing that Donald Trump's 'Art of the Deal' is to simply bother, threaten, harass, and abuse his way to get whatever he wants out of his perceived opponent.

This is the method that he has pushed to make it all the way into the Oval Office of the President of the United States of America.

If that is not proof enough that the system is irreparably broken, then you simply can 'not see' the truth in front of your eyes.

The actions that he engages in are the opposite of magnetism; they are repulsion.

Rather than having people gravitate to his ideas, he has gained his 'ground' by forcing everyone else to back away from their own resources and personal ambitions.

He is illegally offending other people for personal gain and is teaching these methods to his co-conspirators for additional potency and effect.

He has made himself into the enemy of everyone that does not align their will to help his own.

We are repulsed by you, Donald. You have accomplished your goal.

Now what? Are the toys not satisfying your desires anymore?

What else do you need to feel happy? The feeling of 'power' that you have to bother, offend, harm, and threaten others?

This is where we all find ourselves now as we witness the fall of an American icon.

May his name be changed to that of his father's: Satan.

May his lessons be remembered forever more as what to avoid, shun, frown upon, and oppose with our own philosophy of magnetic unity.